LIFTING MORTGAGE

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH VOLUNTARILY SUBSCRIBES OVER 50 PER CENT. OF DEBT

Evening services happily closed a Sunday that had been eventful for the First Methodist Church of this city. The fulfillment of obligations with regard to the Centenary fund had been celebrated with a jubilee and the closer duty to meet the direct obligations of the church had been undertaken with enthusiasm. When the last of the subscriptions had been turned in announcement was made that 52 per cent. of the debt of $26,000 had been subscribed or $13,520.

The service opened with beautiful organ numbers by Miss Guelph McQuinn, for whom this was a farewell service as she is leaving the church preparatory to going to a mission held in Central America, where her fiance is now engaged. The selections included "Offertoire, St. Cecile-D," "The Nightingale and the Rose" by Saint-Saens, and "Romance" by Debussy, followed by the Processional Hymn and entrance of the choir which rendered two anthems, "Sanctus" and "Unfold Ye Portals," both by Gounod. The musical program also included the trio, "Just for Today" (Ambrose) by Mrs. Dana Goss, Miss Isgrig and Mrs. Irving Smith, also solo numbers, "Lead Me All Thy Way" (Brigg) by Mrs. T. J. Meagher, and "Lift Thy Heart" (Allitsen) by Mrs. Irving Smith.

The scripture reading by Pastor Charles H. Scott was from the thirteenth chapter of Matthew concerning the parable of the sower ending with the statement, "Who hath ears to hear, let him hear," continuing with the inquiries of His disciples as to why He had spoken to the multitude in parables, and his answer: "Because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the Kingdom of Heaven but to them it is not given. For whosoever hath to him shall be given and he shall have more abundance, but whosoever hath not from him shall be taken away even that which he hath. Therefore speak I unto them in parables because

SPLENDID INVESTMENT

HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL EXPERIMENT IN MUNICIPAL TELEPHONE SYSTEM

A. L. Lawshe of 620 North Maryland Avenue has irrefutable evidence of the feasibility of establishing a municipal telephone system in Glendale. A little more than 15 years ago Wabash, Indiana, Mr. Lawshe's home town, was up against the same proposition that Glendale now is. The Bell company had the sole telephone system of the county and deeming the time ripe, announced a raise in rates. No such excuse was given as is now used, that of increased operating expenses, but they proceeded to raise the rates just because they wanted to raise the rates, and incidentally because they knew they had a monopoly and thought the people would have to stand for anything they did. But the Hoosier fighting blood was soon raised to the battling point and phones were ordered out by wholesale. Then one far-seeing citizen organized a stock company and soon there was a city telephone system in full operation charging $1.50 a month rental. Exchanges were gradually extended to cover all the cities of the county and farmers put in their own systems, connecting up with the cities at merely nominal exchange rates. Today the Bell system has not an exchange in Wabash county and the rental of the local system is still $1.50 per month for full service despite the increase in price of all kinds of commodities.

Now for the financial side of the investment. Mrs. Lawshe, then Miss Delight Sweetser, acquired five shares of the stock of this telephone company at par value, $500. From the very first it paid 6 per cent. dividend and occasionally as high as seven per cent. And with this the surplus kept piling up until,

CROIX DE GUERRE

SERGEANT HAROLD SALISBURY RECOMMENDED BY COMMANDER FOR DECORATION

Sergeant Harold M. Salisbury of 506 East Harvard Street, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Salisbury of this city, has been cited for decoration with the Croix de Guerre. He was chosen for the honor because of gallantry in action in laying telephone lines under heavy artillery fire. The citation from the company commander to the commanding general of the A. E. F. (Pershing) says:

"During the darkness of night, Oct. 30, 1918, between Desselghem and Waerenghem, Chauffeur Salisbury displayed extraordinary heroism, courage and devotion to duty under trying conditions while stringing one of the main axial lines from the side car of his motorcycle, a light reel devised for the rapid laying of the line from the side car. Chauffeur Salisbury had the task of taking his motorcycle over the road at the same time tending the laying out of the wire. This double and difficult task was performed under severe gas shell attack of the enemy and before 'H' hour on October 31st this line had been completed to the divisional A. I. C. near Waerenghem.

"Again on November 2d, this soldier displaying the same coolness and remarkable courage while alone, carried in the same manner one main axial line into Oudenarde from the town of Knoek, a distance of several K; this under terrific fire from the enemy.

"Also during the night of November 2d, this soldier with his usual cheerfulness, took his side car from Wootegehem to Revere, delivering three miles of wire to the signal detachment for transfer to Eyné, where connections across the Escart River were called for. This trip was made as usual without lights and under shell fire.

"In these three instances Chauffeur Salisbury performed duties of great responsibility and military value, displaying exceptional bravery in the face of discouraging conditions, and it is believed he is fully deserving of the decoration for which he is recommended."

Sergeant Salisbury went overseas in July, 1918, with the 91st Division. He was recently mustered out at Camp Kearny and is now enjoying the happiness of a return to his home in Glendale. Like most other good soldiers he is modest about his achievements and this account of the honor which is coming to him was secured from an article published in the "Times-Republican" of Marshalltown, Iowa, the town in which the Sergeant was born which claims him as a native son.

WINNIPEG STRIKE WILL PROBABLY END

ORDER OF GOVERNING OFFICIALS EXPECTED TO BRING SITUATION TO A CRISIS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Noyes, Minn., May 26.—Government and city officials in close touch with the Winnipeg general strike situation declared that the strike would be broken before evening. The governing officials in Winnipeg set 2 o'clock this afternoon as the time for postal and telephone workers and city firemen to return to work. They expected the order would bring a crisis in the strike. Labor leaders declared they had positive assurance that the workers in twenty other Canadian cities would join in the strike unless a satisfactory settlement is made.

SAN PEDRO YARDS TIED UP

METAL TRADES COUNCIL CALLS OUT ALL CRAFTS ON SYMPATHY STRIKE WITH MACHINISTS

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

San Pedro, May 26.—The Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company's yards were completely tied up this morning when the Metal Trades Council called all crafts employed in the yards on a strike in sympathy with the machinists, who struck a week ago, demanding the recognition of seniority rights.

The men walked out quietly and went home. At noon the yards were deathly quiet. The company would make no statement. The men declared they realized it would be a long, hard fight, but they are making preparations for it and in many instances will obtain employment elsewhere.

ADHERES TO WASHINGTON'S VIEWPOINT

REPUBLICAN POLICY TO OPPOSE FOREIGN ALLIANCES AND ENCOURAGE MILITARY TRAINING

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, May 26.—Representative Madden, who has just returned from France, today outlined the Republican program on the floor of the House. He named the following points in regard to the national policy: Separation from foreign alliances; universal military training; a reasonably small army; the maintenance as a reserve organization of officers discharged from the service; and the maintenance of a navy commensurate with American commerce.

He declared the League of Nations is likely to lead the United States into trouble in defending the integrity of foreign nations. He also declared that he is convinced after the trip abroad that the United States cannot mingle with Europeans on equal terms, because they do not think as do the Americans; they are suspicious and their hatreds are unchangeable.

SCHOOL MUSIC

MRS. DORA GIBSON REVIEWS WORK IN MUSIC IN GLENDALE HIGH SCHOOL

The following paper, read by Mrs. Dora Gibson, head of the music department of Glendale Union High, was read before the Music Section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, which was entertained by her at its last meeting and which was accompanied by demonstrations by pupils, as reported in a recent issue:

We are glad to have you meet with us this afternoon. The women and the women's clubs of America are said by musical authorities to be potent factors in molding public taste and in establishing standards of excellence in matters of art.

There was never a time in the history of our country when the interest in music was so universal and so deep as it is now.

The experience through which the nation has just passed served to bring to its people a realization of the need of music in life.

That music supplied this human want was abundantly shown by its effect on the morale of the soldiers in their camps and on the march, and also upon those who worked and waited at home.

The public schools, where every pupil can acquire some knowledge of this subject, are suddenly confronted by a public sentiment, the teachers of music had expected to be aroused only after years of constructive endeavor, and a program of increased magnitude is waiting to be worked out.

Public school music has been variously defined. It may be said to be a power to produce a high quality of citizenship through an appreciation of that which is beautiful, through self-expression (for more

MEMORIAL EXERCISES

ALL GLENDALE ORGANIZATIONS ASKED TO TAKE PART IN DECORATION DAY PARADE

As announced a few days ago, a big memorial ceremonial in honor of our soldier dead is being planned for Decoration Day, May 30th, by several patriotic organizations of Glendale, viz.: N. P. Banks Post of the G. A. R., the affiliated Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans, and the newly-organized League of American Defenders. C. R. Norton and R. D. White are the Committee of Arrangements and under the instructions received they have sent out invitations to all the known organizations of the city, the schools and other bodies, asking them to participate in the parade and exercises.

The parade will be formed at 1:30 at the corner of Brand Boulevard and Colorado Street and will march from there to Forest Lawn Memorial Park where the exercises of the day will be held.

A program worthy of the occasion which will include fine addresses and music is being arranged, and it is possible that air craft will participate and shower the cemetery with flowers while the services are in progress.

It is the idea of the committee, as voiced by Richardson D. White, that in view of what our country has been through and the sacrifices which have been made by the men who responded to their country's call, and whom we shall never see again, it is fitting that every citizen should participate in this effort to honor the dead, who have so nobly proved their patriotism.

It is his hope that not only will the organizations be properly represented in the parade, but that every family will send one or more members to march or ride in line. Up to Friday night he had received official responses from two organized bodies, the Glendale Sanitarium which stated it would place 200 in line, and the Glendale Horseshoe Club which is arranging to participate. It is understood that the Elks' Lodge is making similar arrangements and probably all lodges will take like action. The schools of the city will take part, and the matter will probably come up for consideration before officials of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter, the Greater Glendale Development Association, the Tuesday Afternoon Club and other organizations the coming week.

About fifty invitations to such bodies have been sent out, the churches not being represented except by an invitation to the Ministerial Association and one to Father O'Neill of the Catholic Church.

An effort has been made to reach every organization, but in case any have failed through the vagaries of the mail service to receive the invitation, they are asked to communicate with Committeemen Richardson D. White or C. R. Norton.

CHURCH AND STATE

REV. CORLISS FEARS A UNION IN AMERICA THAT MAY SHACKLE FREEDOM

That a federation of religions is being formed, and that there is danger of such a combination yoking up with the civil government and trampling upon the rights of conscience, compelling everybody to conform to one creed without respect to their convictions of right and wrong, was the declaration of Pastor J. O. Corliss, in his discourse at the Glendale Seventh-day Adventist Church, Wilson Avenue and Isabel Street, at the regular service last Saturday morning.

"Civil government and the church operate in entirely different spheres," said Mr. Corliss. "Civil government must, of necessity, deal with outward acts. The church deals with the heart. Civil government is obliged to use arbitrary force, but the church cannot do this. If a member of the church commits a crime, such as stealing, the church cannot punish the offender. It can only withdraw the right hand of fellowship, remove his name from the church books, and surrender him to the civil power for punishment."

"Since the civil government occupies an entirely different sphere from the church, it has absolutely no right to unite with the church. United with the church, the civil government becomes corrupt, and its disintegration inevitably follows. United with the civil power, the church becomes a tyrannical persecutor."

"The church says, 'Come.' The civil power says, 'Go.' Heaven forgives sin. Earth punishes crime. Sin and crime are distinct. It is no sin

William Jennings Bryan is getting real "sassy." In the Medinah Temple, Chicago, before 5,000 people, Sunday, he declared in ringing tones that President Wilson is wrong in his recommendation to Congress to modify or repeal the prohibition enactment that is to go into effect July 1. He said that the President is not the people and cannot speak for the people unless by the people's mandate. "The Republicans in Congress will not dare to repeal this measure," said Mr. Bryan. "A Republican Congress passed the Webb-Kenyon anti-liquor law over a Republican President's veto, and it is not likely a Republican Congress will repeal an anti-liquor law at the behest of a Democratic President." The audience seemed to be entirely with the speaker, for not a dissent was heard to any proposition advanced by him. Mr. Bryan undoubtedly has the people solidly behind him in forty-five states, at least.

JOBS FOR DISABLED YANKS

An executive order recently issued by the President and received by cable amends the federal civil service rules so as to permit the United States Civil Service Commission to waive the physical requirements under certain conditions in favor of men who were injured in the military or naval service.

The civil service regulations specify certain physical defects which debar from all examinations and other defects which will debar from certain examinations. These regulations are based upon the requirements of the service as established by the several department heads.

Upon the recommendation of the commission, after consultation with the federal board for vocational education and the United States employees' compensation commission, the President issued an executive order, as follows:

"Provided, that the commission may, in its discretion, exempt from the physical requirements established for any position a disabled and honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine upon the certification of the federal board for vocational education that he has been specially trained for and has passed a practical test demonstrating his physical ability to perform the duties of the class of positions in which employment is sought."

In submitting its recommendation to the President, the civil service commission said: "Where it is apparent to this commission that his (the disabled soldier's, sailor's, or marine's) physical condition is such that he would not ordinarily be accepted, the case will be referred to the federal board for vocational education. That board will then decide whether it is practicable to educate him for the position sought. If considered practicable, the rehabilitation and education will be given, and when completed certification of that fact will be made to this commission. Where the board does not consider it desirable to attempt the education for the position sought, other positions will be considered and suggested to him, but he will not be admitted to the one for which his physical condition constitutes an irremediable bar."

SILVER MINING CAMPS MAY BOOM AGAIN

With silver commanding a higher price than it has been marketed at in more than forty years, a lot of the "ghost towns" that the newspapers have been talking about are sure to be peopled again with prosperous miners and a thriving population, minus some of the features that marked the mining camp of other years. For July 1 is approaching, with all that the date implies.

We shall be greatly disappointed if San Bernardino's famous silver mining camp, Calico, is not again a big producer, adding millions to the wealth of the country. Yes, millions—those were the words. Calico is—or was—about ten miles north of Daggett. It is perhaps a little nearer the new station of Yermo, on the Salt Lake. Ingersoll's county history has this with reference to the famous camp:

The first location in the Calico Mountains was made by Lowery Silver, an old miner. Several hundred locations were made through this district about 1880. In 1881 Tom Warden, Hues Thomas and others located the Silver King mine, which was a very rich producer. In 1884 the output of the Silver King, Bismarck, Cuba and other Calico mines exceeded $642,000, the greater part of which came from the Silver King. In 1888 the state mineralogist reported that 70 per cent of the silver produced in the state was the product of San Bernardino County, and the greater part of this came from the Calico mines. These were the days when Calico was a full-fledged mining bonanza, and 170 stamps were in operation. The Waterloo mine alone employed from 100 to 150 men and kept a 60-stamp mill constantly at work. This mine was one of the best in the district, and yielded an immense amount of ore. In 1892 the low price of silver and the low grade of ore then taken out made it unprofitable to operate the mine, and it was shut down. The Silver King was operated for a year or two longer, but the continued depression in prices and the working out of veins caused this also to be abandoned.

According to the reports kept by the Wells-Fargo Express Company, total bullion shipments from Calico ran to no less than $37,000,000. There were 3,000 people in Calico in 1884, in addition to hundreds in smaller camps nearby. Five men are said to remain, waiting for "silver to come back," and the market reports indicate that the time is here. The London market for silver has been as high as $1.21 per ounce within the week, higher than since 1877. The highest quotation for silver since the Civil War was $1.32 per ounce.—San Bernardino Sun.

GOOD FOR AVIATOR HAWKER

The whole world rejoices in the escape from death of Lieutenant Harry Hawker, the intrepid but foolhardy Australian aviator, who started from Newfoundland across the Atlantic Ocean several days ago without proper preparation. It seems like a miracle that he could travel 1,000 miles in his machine and then be picked up unhurt.

THE LAST STRAW.

The people of Glendale are remaining united on refusing to comply with the order of the telephone company of May 1, increasing the exchange rates and requiring a 10-cent toll for Los Angeles calls.

OUR BEST ARGUMENT

That which we have seen with our own eyes and our hands have handled, what we know from our own actual experience, that from the days of the Pioneers of this "The best country on earth" on down to the present year of Grace, 1919, "The American homes are demanding the best Sanitary Equipment." Where do they go for information, not to their Doctor or Lawyer, but to the man whose business it is to qualify in the best methods and can explain to them intelligently. Father Samuel Parker on Saturday received a call from Bede A. Johnson, wife and daughter, Irma, Pastor and family serving First Methodist Church, Glendale, preceding the appointment of Rev. B. D. CARRIE STONE TO WED

Miss Carrie Stone of 713 South Glendale Avenue, a graduate of the class of 1918 of Glendale Union High School, and a young woman who was exceedingly popular in Glendale circles, had planned to steal a march on her friends and slip away for her own wedding without anyone being the wiser, but a knowledge of her plans leaked out and she was delightfully surprised by Mrs. O. W. Tarr and a host of her friends last Saturday night when they appeared at her home with a shower of beautiful gifts which included silver, cut glass, linen and many other articles of use and value.

Miss Stone, who was to have been one of the bridesmaids at the wedding of Evangeline Huntley, had expected to be married in June, but her fiance, who is a rancher in Texas, discovered that his wheat crop which will soon need his attention, is maturing so rapidly that if he was to get any chance for a honeymoon the wedding would have to take place earlier than arranged. The bride-to-be was equal to the emergency and left this morning for Texas, where she will be met at Fort Worth by her fiance, Martin McDuffie, and proceed with him to Dallas where the wedding will be celebrated at the home of his grandmother at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. After a week's honeymoon they will return to Denison, Texas, where they will make their home.

To the great joy of Miss Stone, her brother, Sergeant Garland Stone, who has just received his discharge from service at San Francisco, arrived Sunday in time for a farewell visit with her.

As stated, the honoree at the Saturday night function was the recipient of beautiful gifts and a very pleasant evening was spent with refreshments of ice cream and cake served at the close by Mrs. Tarr, who was assisted by Miss Ruby Stone. The list of those present included: Misses Mellicent and Ione Virden, Phyllis and Kathleen Adams, Mr. and Mrs. Adair and their daughters Altha and Pearl Adair and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Newborn of Los Angeles, Misses Anita Cline, Waunita Emery, Catherine Phillips, Dorothy Hobbs, Mrs. Katherine Ripley, Misses Margery Hanson, Evangeline Huntley, Margery Morris, Esther Schrempp, Margaret Boucher, Leone Shattuck, Harriet Williams, Olive Moffatt, Ruth and Helen Begg, Katherine Dodge, Margaret Lusby, Ruth Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Kelty, Mr. and Mrs. Horning, Misses Harriet Myers and Ernestine Lyon, May and Carrie Cornwell, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Cornwell, and Mr. and Mrs. H. Harrison.

SOLDIERS SIX

GUESTS OF HONOR AT A PRETTY PARTY AT HOME OF MR. AND MRS. HENRY JOHNSTON

The home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Henry Johnston at 111 North Everett Street was the scene of a very pretty party Saturday night for six returning soldier boys. Roses were everywhere throughout the house. Considerable time was given by the guests to an examination of the souvenirs of travel collected by Mr. Johnston from all parts of the world and assembled in his "den," and in the course of the evening each soldier told some anecdote of his life overseas. Six different branches of service were represented, the special guests being: Clarence H. Smith from Berkeley who was with the 27th Engineers; Louis Titus, who was with the "Grizzlies" in heavy artillery; Harold Salisbury of the Signal Corps; Owen Emery of the 316th Ammunition Train; Danz Burkett of the 35th Hospital Corps; Lieutenant Charles Potter of the Aviation Service from Ellington Field, Texas. Other guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Smith of Berkeley, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Burkett, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Goss, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Ferguson, Mrs. Potter and daughter Ida, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Salisbury, Dr. A. L. Bryant and family, Mr. and Mrs. E. U. Emery and family, and the host and hostess, Delphine refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

All the young men honored saw service and all returned without a scratch.

BEWARE OF FRAUDS

The Greater Glendale Development Association has officially placed its name on record as being opposed to the increase of telephone rates and the inauguration of a toll charge to Los Angeles as announced by the Telephone Company, and if the telephone company persists in having the order enforced, the Development Association has put itself on record as favoring a municipal telephone system.

Any person who circulates reports contrary to the above is not working in harmony with the official acts of the Greater Glendale Development Association, and is a fraud probably working in the hands of the telephone company.

A gentleman was calling at homes of subscribers this morning asking phone users to retain their phones one year to give time to work up the municipal system. The man with the message was not representing the citizens of Glendale, but was playing in to the hands of the telephone company. Beware of frauds.

HARD GAME TO LOSE

Manager Horton of the Elks' Ball Club was a sadly disappointed man Saturday afternoon. He had his team all lined up for the game with the strong Gilfane Bros. team of Los Angeles, but two of the best players in the bunch could not get off from their work so he had to go into the contest thus crippled. But the lads were game and they put up such a strong fight that ten innings were necessary to decide the contest and then the score was 6 to 5. There was some mighty fine playing throughout and there is no disgrace in losing a game like that. When an official scorer is secured by the team the Evening News will publish the complete scores of these games.

PASTOR'S SON DELIVERS FINE ADDRESS

"The Opportunity of Today" was the subject of an address given by Sergeant Alfred Cookman at the evening service in the West Glendale M. E. Church, corner Harvard and S. Pacific Ave. A large audience was in attendance. An attractive song service preceded the address.

Mr. Cookman portrayed the opportunity of today as the rise of the morning sun. He described man looking up from the solid earth to the moving clouds and seeing in those clouds himself, his life that passes, drifting from the cradle to the grave, as clouds drift from the east to the west. He emphasized the value of an education and told of the varied opportunities for a man in this 20th century. He said that "Education" is the biggest business in the world. It is the solution of human progress. Education reaches out. The educated person will be there, will know things; he has a fixed determination, clothed with fine emotional life. He takes in, and then gives out. We go to school to get something out of the school and not to see what the school will do. The home training of a child, school life, the world of business, the church influence and the nation's self-made man, were topics of discussion.

He compared the Centenary campaign to a great heart with arteries pushing outward and the veins carrying return messages to the civilized world.

He closed his address with a poetical interpretation of nature's great out-of-doors as a world of treasures, resources, problems, opportunities and unparalleled beauty—that nature speaks the omnipresence of a God revealing astounding mysteries of a master mind.

Rev. W. W. Cookman announced at the close of the services that the church had contributed $2000 towards the Centenary, which was its quota.

CITY AND COUNTRY

Who does not love a quiet stroll, Along the sandy beach, To watch the crested waves roll, Far as the eye can reach? Who does not love to tramp the moor, Knee deep in purple heath? Or press the springy emerald floor That decks the dale beneath? Who does not love the mountain peak, Its awful solitude; Where not a murmur dares to break, Upon its quietude? Who does not love God's wondrous works, His earth on which we tread The sea, the air, the countless worlds, That shine above our head? But still I find my greatest joy,— My strongest interest;— Not in the mountain, sea, or sky;— I love the city best, I love to see the busy throng, That hurry through the street; Mixing the bustling crowd among, Noting the things I meet. I love to see man's power impressed On the hard rocks that rise, In tower and spire, hewn, shaped and dressed, Springing toward the skies, To see the product of the ore, Subservient to his will, And treasures brought from every shore Re-fashioned by his skill, The palaces, the marts of trade, The dwellings of the poor, The stately ships man's hands have made To bridge the ocean o'er, The horse trained humbly to obey, Steam made his work to do,— The very lightning from the sky, Pressed into service, too, Earth, air, fire, water all contained, In Nature's varied plan, Grasped by superior power, encircled, And made the slaves of man, And oh the thought that this vast power, Is held by man on trust! And for its services every hour, Yield an account he must, This thought man's wondrous works conjure, And nerves me for the fight, Gives me the courage to endure, And labor for the right, That every talent may be brought To obey His high behest, And for this soul-inspiring thought, I love the city best.

WERNETTES ENTERTAIN FOR SON

Mr. and Mrs. J. I. Wernettes were host and hostess at a very pretty party for their son, Philip, at the Wernettes home, 519 East Windsor Road, Saturday night, at which a few of his friends were entertained with dancing. The parlors, which were decorated with roses, were cleared of rugs and the young people spent a very pleasant evening, a player piano furnishing music supplemented by saxophone and clarinet, played by Gerald and Hubert Toll with piano accompaniment by Godfrey Parker.

cause they seeing, see not, and hearing they hear not; neither do they understand.

"This statement," the preacher said, "for years seemed to me an incomprehensible thing and unjust—because one was fortunate enough to possess that he should have more; but I was later surprised at my own lack of insight when I studied more carefully and compared it with that passage as written in one of the other gospels which says that to him that hath shall be given and from him that hath not shall be taken even that which he seemeth to have."

"People seem to have a great many things but not in a real sense. Jesus was simply saying that it is a law of life that God rewards effort, God rewards devotion and that the person who presumes upon God and upon his fellow man, who is not a doer and a builder in the world, may seem to have, but even what he seems to have will ultimately be stripped from him, while that person who honors God by taking his share of the world's effort to him shall be given and his life shall be enriched."

"I think the Christian church is just beginning to find out in a large way how rich and blessed a thing it is for man to possess for God find his whole life enriched."

"To him who hath insight God gives insight and to him who hears, God gives hearing and to him who hath an open heart God pours in and pours in. The Church of God and the Gospel of Christ are in the world to enrich the lives of the people who have."

He then reviewed the jubilation of the day in the fact that the church had been able to do its part in the Centenary Drive by subscribing $23,960 and was now ready for an effort to clear the debt on its own beautiful edifice. He prophesied that Wednesday night would be another gathering to rejoice over the subscription of the debt, which, he said, required the raising of $26,000. He then outlined the plan made by the finance committee of dividing the debt into units of $100 a week for the period of 260 weeks covered by the five-year term for which the subscriptions are asked.

"We have not finished the canvass," he said, "but we have pretty well exhausted the possibilities of the large subscriptions. We have gotten to the point where John and Mary and all the rest of us must take hold. I hold in this hand a $100 Liberty Bond and in the other hand a $50 Liberty Bond given to me this afternoon. The $100 bond was given me by Sister Hawkes for herself and her husband who has recently gone into the heavenly land. It represents in a way the interest which that good man had in his church, and I was deeply touched by this subscription. Nothing has more cheered and comforted me than the realization that without any persuasion the people have expressed their love to God and love to the church by gladly making their subscriptions."

At the close of the service he spoke appreciatively of the debt the church owed to the organist for her part in the church services, of the prayers which would follow her into the larger field to which she is going, and as a tribute to her he asked the congregation to remain seated while the postlude was played. Subscriptions were received on the cards passed for the purpose when the evening offering was taken, and announcement was made, as stated, that with those previously obtained, 52 per cent., or $13,520 had been subscribed, during the day.

There was a fine attendance throughout the day with no sermon at the morning service, but instead brief speeches by members expressing satisfaction over the record made by the church in connection with the Centenary Drive and the belief that now is the time to subscribe the debt on the church.

The chart showing the financial status of the church and the plan of the committee for dividing the payments into per cents. ranging from ten per cent., which would be represented by $10 per week down to fractions of one per cent. represented by a few pennies a week.

The debtemeter which will at all times keep the church members advised of the amount paid from week to week and the diminishing amount remaining, was presented and explained. The taking of subscriptions did not begin until the close of the morning service when the committee and members of the canvassing teams opened booths in the Sunday School class rooms to receive voluntary subscriptions.

About 150 people brought lunches to the church and ate them together in the social hall where the ladies of the Aid Society had spread tables.

At 2 o'clock in the afternoon a musical program was given which was opened by Miss McQuinn with two beautiful organ numbers. Dr. and Mrs. Andrews of Pasadena sang in duet and solo, and Dr. Joseph Marple of this city who contributed solo numbers, was recalled again and again and aroused the greatest enthusiasm. More organ numbers by Miss McQuinn interspersed the singing and then Dr. Merle N. Smith of Pasadena was introduced and preached a powerful sermon from the text: "The Love of Christ Constraineth."

At the close of his address an intermission was taken, during which subscriptions were received and before the next speaker was introduced an announcement was made that they had reached 35½ per cent.

The second address and a very eloquent one, was made by Dr. W. L. Y. Davis, after which more subscriptions were received which brought the total to 48 1-2 per cent., the service closing at five o'clock.

During the next few days members of the canvassing teams will visit members and it is hoped that the pastor's prediction will be realized and that another jubilee can be held Wednesday evening. The Ladies' Aid Society subscribed ten per cent., or $10 per week. Other subscriptions ranged from a total of $1200 to a few cents a week.

people can express themselves through music than in any other way), and through a spirit of service.

The duty of the teacher is to furnish a vision and a motive for work, and to direct the pupils toward the joy of achievement through their own efforts. For "every educated person must be self-educated."

The object of the Music Department of Glendale High School is to further the aim of the school as a whole; namely, to help produce good citizens.

A good citizen can function in many different places in society, therefore the broad policy of the school makes possible the preparation for various avenues of future usefulness.

The music courses are on the same footing as the academic subjects, with equal credit given for equal work, and are accredited to the universities and normal schools of the state. Our young people who have gone on to higher work, have, without exception, acquitted themselves with credit in their new sphere of endeavor.

The study courses offered are sight reading, appreciation, harmony, vocal music, and applied music.

The organizations are the Glee Clubs and the Orchestra.

Sight-reading is the basic course in High School music, and as it is now taught is an important subject, as it lays a foundation for sound musicianship, vocal or instrumental, and is a prerequisite for the study of harmony and for more advanced choral work.

Care is exercised to keep a balance between the theoretical and the singing sides of the lessons, for we must never lose sight of the fact that music is an art as well as a science.

The chief aim is to develop power and independence on the part of the pupils so that they can work out and sing any part, with the teacher not in evidence at all.

Appreciation is offered in four half-year courses. This might be called a listeners' course. The subjects studied are illustrated by means of the piano and the victrola.

Harmony is a two years' course. In this the pupil learns to think and write music and musical sounds, and to apply his knowledge to simple, original melody writing with a suitable accompaniment.

Vocal music is designed to give a student an earning capacity on graduating from High School.

It is correlated with a full commercial course and fits one to fill a position in a music store.

Applied music (music studied outside of school under private instruction for school credit) is showing satisfactory results. A fine spirit of co-operation is being shown by the private teachers, and a high standard of work prevails.

The Glee Clubs and the Orchestra each meet twice a week. They study standard and miscellaneous works and feel that their work is to assist as they are needed in school and community affairs.

In the Glee Clubs correct breathing, voice production, tone, attack, enunciation, etc., are emphasized, and a feeling for harmony is especially worked for with the boys, so that they can make their own harmony in singing songs they fancy for social purposes.

Glendale High School has been granted one music scholarship a year by the University of Southern California to be given to the graduate who shows the greatest promise of future advancement in music and allied subjects.

This will, no doubt, be a stimulus to many students who desire advanced work in this subject.

If the influence and interest started in our schools move into and affect the three basic elements of the nation, the home, the church, and the community, and I believe they do, then as each community widens and touches other community interests we will have a musical nation indeed.

CHURCH AND STATE

for the possessor of silver to coin it, but it is a crime to do so. The government punishes the counterfeiter because the government considers counterfeiting a crime. The owner of silver must dispose of it in bulk.

"With religious acts which affect mankind's relation to God, such as prayer, worship, and Sabbath observance, the civil government has absolutely no right to meddle. To break the Sabbath is no crime, but it is a sin, for God says in the fourth commandment of the decalogue, recorded in Exodus 20: 'Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work; but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God: in it thou shalt not do any work, thou, nor thy son, nor thy daughter, thy manservant, nor thy maid-servant, nor thy cattle, nor thy stranger that is within thy gates: for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day: wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.'

"The seventh day is not Sunday; it is the day which comes before Sunday, namely, Saturday. But whether the Sabbath be Sunday or Saturday, the civil power has no right to designate, for Sabbath-keeping and worship are religious matters, over which the state has no rightful jurisdiction. Human laws may and do change, according to the complexion of the legislatures. God never changes. His laws are never altered. He is the same yesterday, today and forever."

"Sabbath-breaking is an offense against God, but it is not an offense against the state. A civil offense is that which invades the rights of property or person. Sunday work is no crime, because no civil right is invaded. If Sunday labor is uncivil, Sunday labor is a crime, for it is the act, not the day upon which it is done, which constitutes the crime. Sunday disturbance can be of a mental character only. If a mental disturbance is a civil offense, then preaching doctrines diverse from the majority may be forbidden.

"It is of the utmost importance that the state treat every man justly. Right is right, whether it affects the majority or the minority. To pass an unjust law merely because only a minority will be oppressed, is to violate one of the fundamental principles of government. It was to safeguard sacred rights that the first and fourteenth amendments to the United States Constitution were enacted. The first amendment provides that 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.' The fourteenth amendment provides that no state shall make any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States; 'nor shall any state . . . deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.'

"The State of California is an inseparable part of the United States, and the law of the United States is the supreme law of the land, as is shown by Article 1, Section 6, of the Constitution of California. The Constitution of the United States further provides in Article 6, that it is 'the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the Constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.'

just a few years after its organization, the company declared an additional 100 per cent. dividend in the shape of additional stock, so Mrs. Lawshe now has 10 shares of a par value of $1000, instead of the $500 original investment. Not long ago Mr. Lawshe having a curiosity to know whether or not the stock had depreciated in value, wrote the secretary asking him what it was worth and promptly received a reply offering par for all of Mrs. Lawshe's stock. But when the company's annual statement came, some time later, the stock had a book value of 195.

When Mr. Lawshe was back in Wabash last year the president of the company, who is an old friend, was berating government operation saying it had increased operating expenses largely and but for the large surplus accumulated in previous years the annual dividend of 6 per cent. would have had to be discontinued. Mr. Lawshe will be glad to give any inquirer full details of this successful experiment in municipal telephone ownership.

With the remarkable success of our Public Service Department in conducting the water and light systems evident to all, and in view of the wonderful success of the project above referred to, is there room for any hesitancy on the part of our citizens in going ahead with the establishment of a municipal telephone system in Glendale?
